

Georgia Southern University

Digital Commons@Georgia Southern

Inkwell

Student Media

8-15-2018

The George-Anne Inkwell Edition

Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/inkwell>

Recommended Citation

Georgia Southern University, "The George-Anne Inkwell Edition" (2018). Inkwell. 1094.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/inkwell/1094>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Media at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Inkwell by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

The Inkwell

edition

GA
THE GEORGE-ANNE

What to do. Where to eat. Summer arts in review.

New dining options coming. Laura visits the forest.

What To Do

Wednesday August 15th

Serve 912 kickoff

10am-2pm

Student Union Plaza

This event will introduce students to opportunities to engage in the local community through service. Students will learn about ways to volunteer at Georgia Southern and in the community while having fun, playing games, and collecting giveaways.

Folio Scavenger Hunt

12-1pm

Solms Hall 204

Students are invited to participate in a tour of the the Folio Learning Management System. Get a demo of the Folio system, learn tips and tricks for personalizing and managing your own Folio environment, and, if you've completed the Folio Scavenger Hunt prior to the event, you might just win a door prize!

Thursday August 16th

Ice Cream with the Dean

10am-2pm

Outside the Student Union

Come enjoy some ice cream with the Dean

Piano in the Arts

7:30pm

Fine Arts Auditorium

This concert includes members from the newly formed Savannah-based group, The Blue Heron Chamber Ensemble, featuring Flutist Jeana Melilli, Oboist Andrew Jay Ripley and Michael Daly on French Horn — all Principals with the Savannah Philharmonic Orchestra. They will be joined by Benjamin Warsaw on piano and will perform a selection of chamber music for piano and wind instruments.

Friday, August 17

Eagle Beach Bash

4pm-7pm

Tybee Island, GA

Join us for some back to school fun on Tybee Island with free food, giveaways and music! Need a ride? Email us at: upb@georgiasouthern.edu. Students, please bring your Eagle IDs!

Saturday, August 18

Meet the Greeks

1pm-4pm

Windward Commons, Armstrong Campus

Greek chapters will table and promote their organizations to students.

Housing Block Party

2pm-4pm

Residence Halls, Armstrong Campus

Karaoke Bingo or Outdoor Movie

7pm-10pm

Residence Halls, Armstrong Campus

Tuesday, August 21

Free HIV Testing

10a.m.-1p.m.

University Hall, Armstrong Campus

1 in 8 people infected with HIV don't know they have it. Get tested for free at this clinic sponsored by Health Services, the Department of Public Health and the Gay Straight Alliance.

Course Prep and Demo

9am-10am

Solms Hall, 204

Join us for a course preparation training session and Folio demonstration. Faculty will have an opportunity to review the steps needed to prepare for Fall 2018 courses in Folio and receive a short demonstration of the new Daylight interface for Folio.

WebEx Basics

10am-11:30am

University Hall, 114

Introductory course examining the principles and basics of WebEx Meeting Center. The course will cover the basics of scheduling, hosting, joining, sharing resources, recording, and distributing meeting recordings. In addition, the course will include training with regard to being a participant in a WebEx meeting. This is a hands-on course.

Banner 9 Training

10:30am-12pm

Solms Hall, 204

Join the IT Services team as instructor Jessica Weaver reviews the basics of how to navigate the Banner 9 interface. Training includes hands-on practice.

Wednesday, August 22

Movie: Avengers Infinity War

7pm-10pm

Ogechee Theater, Armstrong Campus

Free movie for students and community members.

Sex Signals

12pm-1pm

Ogechee Theater, Armstrong Campus

Tacos on Bullstreet-

Come to Tacos on Bullstreet from 3-7pm for $2 Chorizo tacos, $5 Guacamole, $3 Tecate tall boys, and $15 Pacifico pitchers. If you happen to make it there on a Monday, you may luck out and get their delicious, made-from-scratch margaritas discounted for Margarita Monday.

1608 Bull Street

Mon-Sat 11AM-10PM

CLOSED SUNDAY

B's Cracklin Barbecue-

This little barbecue joint is conveniently located near the Armstrong campus and was declared one of the best barbecue restaurant in America in a WSB-TV article. B's Cracklin Barbecue offers a wide range of options, from sliders, to ribs, to a large selection of delicious sides.

12409 White Bluff Rd, Savannah, GA 31419

Thursday-Saturday 11 AM-9PM

Sunday- 12-6PM

Closed Monday & Tuesday

Fox and Fig-

This restaurant's menu may be fully vegan but the chargrilled flavor of their Fox Burger is bound to satisfy even the most avid meat eaters. From milkshakes to cheesecakes to specialty espresso drinks, Fox and Fig has a delicious plant based option to satisfy your sweet tooth.

321 Habersham St, Savannah, GA 31401

Monday-Sunday 8AM- 9PM

Inkwell Interviews

Dr. Ken Gassiot

By: Ethan Smith

With the "New Georgia Southern" in full effect, student involvement has been a hurdle that the entire university has been dealing with since the consolidation. Dr. Ken Gassiot is the Associate Vice President for Student Engagement at Georgia Southern. Dr. Gassiot has visited the Armstrong Campus numerous times and is an active participant in social media as he continues to join the three campuses together. I spoke with him and asked some questions regarding student involvement here in Savannah and how students can get involved.

1. How can Armstrong campus students get involved with Georgia Southern?

Weeks of Welcome is a great way to get started! For the next 6 weeks, events, activities and programs will be happening throughout each week to meet new people and have fun!

While WOW is going on, students can also seek out various offices that can get students involved in events and activities that go past the first 6 weeks. Many of these offices are located in the Memorial College Center, which is connected to the Student Union on the 2nd floor. Students can also see the Dean of Students Office located on the 2nd floor of the Student Union to get specific directions to these offices in the MCC. If activities are happening on a campus that is not their home campus, students can still participate...just bring your Eagle ID.

2. With the new crop of freshman coming in, what advice would you give them to get involved?

Don't think or wait. Just jump in! Routines and habits form early and you want those to be filled with doing something you love and feel good about.

The college experience is best lived when you are engaged with activities, people, and events on campus and the community. Savannah is a great city...explore it! When opportunities come up to be on any of the Georgia Southern campuses, do it! Relieve stress in positive ways! The Student Rec Center is a great place to do this! Students who are working a part-time job on campus while also taking 12-15 hours typically have higher grades and are happier due to better time management and feeling of purpose. Finally...ask questions! So many people on campus want to help and connect you to what you need.

3. There have been some rumors about enrollment on the Armstrong campus being down? Is it and if so, why?

When the announcement came of Georgia Southern and Armstrong consolidating, some might have been under the wrong impression of what that meant. With some seeing campus signage changing to Georgia Southern, others might have thought their desired institution of Armstrong was no longer. As of Friday, all campuses at Georgia Southern were at 95% of their desired enrollment goal. Overall, Georgia Southern has done really well and it's been a team effort across many areas at the university. Enrollment at all campuses as of Friday, August 10 was at 26,199.

4. Are any new activities on the docket for the Fall of 2018?

Yes! Definitely participate in anything happening on the Armstrong campus, watch advertising in campus posting areas, and pay attention to your university email. Leadership and Community Engagement has established a new office on the Armstrong campus, the Student Rec Center has new outdoor adventure trips, fitness options, and just received a lot of new work out, cardio equipment, and Student Activities has reorganized the Campus Union Board into the University Programming Board to better engage students. Student Media, Multicultural Affairs, Fraternity and Sorority Life, Leadership & Community Engagement and Student Activities all have new staff that are so excited and focused on hearing from students on what they would like to do or get involved in.

5. What resources will now be made available to Armstrong students that were not in the past? How will these new resources improve student success?

All those efforts have been done with the intent to make the experience even better for students on all campuses. New academic majors will be coming to the Armstrong campus, a stronger focus on assessment and accountability with resources, and investing in the relationship Armstrong as with the Savannah community are all areas of importance. President Nickel is providing leadership in these areas during her time as interim President. Student Affairs is focused on maximizing students involved in activities and leadership positions as well as the support channels needed to help students stay on track and graduate.

6. Finally, how do you personally believe the three Georgia Southern campuses can engage with each other to become the "New Georgia Southern"?

Building trust and growing relationships are the key. A mindset of 1 university with 3 campuses is increasingly being accepted as our identity and who we are. I do think that the more we do with one another, the more we collaborate, the more we share, the more we grow and excel as the new Georgia Southern University. It also involves making a conscious choice to create the best and most optimal environment for students through academic support, exciting and fun events, and learning opportunities that shape how they see the world...and themselves. They are taking courses, pursuing a degree, and having their lives changed because of the Georgia Southern experience...we can't let them down.

Additions to Eagle Dining Coming Soon

By: Ethan Smith

The Dean of Students Office sent out some information about renovations to Eagle Dining in the MCC Food Court, MCC and University Hall.

Eddie Mills, the Associate VP for Auxiliary Services who also oversees Eagle Dining services, gave some information on the renovations.

"We're working to expedite the renovation process as quickly as possible for all of the projects. They will most likely take the majority of the fall semester to complete. We're hopeful that the Starbucks and Sushi with Gusto concepts will open ahead of the Chick-fil-a, which is an extensive rebuild."

The announcement revealed planned renovations and additions to Eagle Dining including Chick-Fil-A, Starbucks, Southern Cafe and Sushi with Gusto. Construction began for Chick-Fil-A on Monday August 13, so it is expected that food services will not be available during the construction in the MCC Food Court.

It was noted that construction dates for the other three establishments have yet to be determined as the school is finalizing design documents. This news is music to the ears of Armstrong students as Eagle Dining services are being upgraded and renovated to provide better food options for students here in Savannah. More updates will follow throughout the semester.

Rules and Regulations To Know This Fall

By: Ethan Smith

For new students and the Armstrong students of old, the consolidation has brought many changes to you here in Savannah. Here are some up-to-date rules and regulations you should know for this semester and those to follow.

Here on campus, some new visitor rules among other things have been adopted from Georgia Southern. First, opposite sex visitors are allowed in all housing buildings. All guests can stay up to three consecutive nights with full roommate approval and said guests can stay up to 15 times a semester.

You can also possess alcohol in your living space now. If the resident has a roommate that is underage, they must mark their alcohol with their name and store it in their living space.

Joint responsibility is also strictly enforced on the Armstrong campus. For example, if your roommates are smoking pot and you aren't but are still involved in some way, you all take the fall. So be responsible for yourself and the people you associate yourself with.

Parking has also changed as many of you know. You can no longer pull through or back-in to a space anymore due to the new system of scanning tags. To note, parking decals no longer exist. You must register your vehicle online using the license plate on your car. There is no fee as housing has already covered it for you if you live on campus. If you violate these rules for parking, the fee has increased from 25 to 50 dollars.

Arguably the most impactful is the hands-free law that began this year in Georgia. The law states that a driver cannot have their phone in their hands or touching any part of their body while they are at the wheel. So, don't text and drive everyone.

These rules can all be found through your Blue and White Student Guides as well as Auxiliary Services which can all be accessed through your MyGeorgiaSouthern account.

The First Meeting of the Year

By: Dalon Bonner

SGA held its first meeting of the school year. Not much related to legislation made its way on to the agenda. However, several people made enthusiastic remarks about the events surrounding the upcoming months. These people included Executive Vice President Spencer Demink, President Jarvis Steele, via recorded video and SGA Advisor Andrew Dies.

Much of the meeting concerned appointments to the Senate and formal business in each of the various committees. Three Senators, Nia Skelton, Keisha Cheney and Josiah Fredrick, took the oath to serve on the Senate. Senator Charles Breazeale would then be sworn into the position of Speaker of the Senate. Shortly afterward, a vote resulted in Senator Alysia Williams being appointed to Deputy Speaker.

Several committees named their respective figureheads.

SGA meeting will now be recorded and made available to students.

In Case You Missed It

Incredibles 2 photo. From imdb.com

By: Dalon Bonner

Music

The Gorillaz returned in June with the album "The Now Now." While unfortunately not as good as their earlier efforts, some of the songs merit repeat listening. Some of the songs that fall under that category are, "Humility," "Tranz," and "Sorcererz."

An album I missed at its initial release but was recommended by a friend is the album "Love Is Dead" by Chvrches. I like the album but would be lying if I said I would return to it more than on one occasion. If this album is more your speed, I recommend just about all the tracks, specifically "Graffiti" and "Graves."

The collaborative effort between Kid Cudi and Kanye West "Kids See Ghost" came as a welcome surprise. It is one of the better releases from either artist to come out this decade. At under 30 minutes, it is a breeze to listen to and every track has its merit.

Travis Scott released "Astroworld" earlier this month and it has not left my mind since. The album isn't great, but its replay value is apparent. The vibe created by the production and features is phenomenal. Recommended songs include "Stargazing," "R.I.P. Screw," "Stop Trying to be God," "NC-17," "Butterfly Effect," and "Coffee Bean." In the same vein musically, but way more experimental in structure and content is the latest release from Denzel Curry "Ta13oo." Truth be told, the album is an acquired taste. However, it's a rewarding listen if you choose to delve into it.

The most enjoyable listen I had this summer was with Kyle's latest project "Light of Mine." The album is a pop record through and through, and yet it might be one of the best albums I have heard this year. Recommendations include "Ups & Downs," "Ikuyo," "Games," "Babies," "Playinwitme," "iMissMe," and of course "iSpy."

My final recommendation is Janelle

Kyle light of mine photo from broadwayworld.com

Monae's "Dirty Computer." Just go buy it and spoil yourself. It is that good. I honestly do not think it has a bad track. As said before just buy the album and enjoy.

Film

"Avengers: Infinity War" has been called by the studio as "the most ambitious crossover in cinema history" but to me, it's no different than any other Marvel movie. It is not bad, but aside from a couple of moments, it does not stand out too heavily. It feels like a pit stop more than an important progression in the story. I may be suffering from fatigue after seeing nearly all of these movies, but I forgot most of this movie after viewing it. B

If for some reason, you needed to know Han Solo's backstory, or if you wish to support Donald Glover, you can see "Solo: A Star Wars Story." Otherwise, there is not much reason to see it. D+

"Deadpool 2" is similar to "Kingsman: The Golden Circle" in that the first film is a lightning in a bottle film that honestly did not need to be repeated. And yet they did it anyway. However, this film can stand on its own merit to become an enjoyable watch. The elements that pull it over the hump is Cable, Domino and Colossus. Also, the soundtrack, especially the Celine Dion song, came through to make an enjoyable watch. A-

"Hotel Artemis" came as a surprise this summer. It wasn't great but still enjoyable. It had a clever concept and some standout performances. B+

Jack Jack versus a Raccoon is admittedly enough to recommend "The Incredibles 2." The overall plot is not as good as the first film, but the family is still as enjoyable this time around. As always, Michael Giacchino comes through with the score. When you get a chance to see it, enjoy yourself. A-

"Mission Impossible: Fallout" is one of the best films to come out this summer. With this being the sixth installment, I think they have hit their stride and niche. They show off the best of the team and the action is well-helmed. Plus, this film has Tom Cruise versus Superman. Go see it when you get the chance. A-

The Hostel: Escape to the Woods

By: Laura Weyman

As usual, I almost missed the obscured entrance of the Hostel in the Forest. The white and green wooden sign, slightly obstructed by branches is hard to spot while driving down US-82 E. The bumpy and winding dirt road still felt just as long to drive through as the last time, and the leaves of the trees still shimmered from the rays of light passing through the foliage, giving the forest a mystical quality. So far, the experience felt the same as the last three times I had come to this off-grid vacation spot, but I knew this expedition wouldn't be a repetition of my last few visits since this time, no one sat in my passenger seat. I was alone.

Each time I had gone to the hostel, I had always taken a companion with me. Exploring the trails and swimming in the lake with friends or a significant other is an effective way to strengthen a bond and forget about the millions of responsibilities that await you at home. But each time I canoed around the lake or wandered underneath the water tower sized trees down the dirt paths, with someone by my side, I couldn't help but wonder what it would feel like to spend time here free of another's expectations and free of distracting conversations.

I always imagined myself sitting on the swinging bench facing the lake, journaling and writing poetry as groups of strangers threw themselves from the pentagonal floating dock into the clear water beneath. I suspect the desire for introspection is something that arises within most hostel guests while frequenting the premises. After all, what better location to do that than in a place that merges the peacefulness of nature with the comfort of one's own home?

Though I came to the hostel on a quest for introspection, the fruition of spending time alone did not match the script I had played over and over in my head.

"Hi! have you been here before?" The hefty bearded man behind the desk asked me. I fumbled through my wallet in search of my membership card.

"Yep, I'm already a member" I said with a smile as I raised the recycled paper card towards the wooden counter that separated us.

"Ok, great so it'll be 30 dollars flat and looks like you'll be staying in the Coral."

I tried to hide my disappointment when he announced the name of my room, but I knew I would end up there. The community dorm room is where most lone travelers end up sleeping in. I don't have the choice to sleep alone, but at least I can do everything else alone, I told myself without speaking aloud.

It was about 4pm and I thought I better hurry if I want to enjoy the last couple hours of sunshine so I walked back to my car, quickly grabbed my belongings, and took them to the dorm room.

I stuffed my small back pack with my Eno hammock, my journal, a couple of books, and a bag of dried mangos and left the dorm to find my way towards the wooden pathway leading to the lake.

At the lake, I found two trees with trunks of the perfect width and distance. The afternoon sun caused the lake water to glisten. The light wind blowing through the leaves generated a rustling sound, as if the trees were whispering secrets to one another.

I pulled out my journal and began writing. Stream of consciousness. I did not worry how eloquent the structures of my sentences were. I simply let the pen glide across the page, ignoring the judging voices inside my head. As I wrote, the weight of my thoughts began to lighten. The content of the pages was only as valuable as a soaked paper napkin, but the act of purging the chatter in my mind was what held true value.

For a split second I thought, wow, everything is just as it should be. It's perfect. But as most of us know, the spurts of contentment we encounter in our day to day life often come to an end almost as soon we become conscious of them. This time, the mosquitos were the ones who decided I had experienced enough bliss for one day, though their intrusion was not welcomed, their timing was impeccable. A gong like sound resonated through the forest, signaling guests to gather in the dining room for dinner.

"Tonight, It's cold bean salad, collard greens from the garden, and cornbread!" Once the food, plates, and utensils had been set on the back table, the rest of the hostel guests flooded into the dining room area.

"Alright, before we get the chance to dig into Jonah's delicious food, I want us to gather in a circle, hold hands, and share what we are thankful for." The voice came from a tall, blonde, bearded man who was playing ping pong earlier.

This is a pre-meal tradition at the hostel, and no matter how uncomfortable holding hands with strangers or acts that are reminiscent of spiritual traditions make you feel, you are expected to make yourself vulnerable inside this circle of complete strangers... See full story at inkwellonline.com

Aries- This week will be very intense. Luckily, this intensity is not unfamiliar to you. This is a time to let go of old grudges and start fresh. Your extra dash of charm this week equips you for social adventures and interactions. Take this time to bond with your lover, family and friends or, perhaps, go on a hunt for new acquaintances.

Taurus- This week promises to be a productive one internally as well as materialistically. You may experience an internal shift that causes old wounds to resurface. Don't fear your emotions and use them to further you in accomplishing your long-term or short-term goals. This is the time to keep your friends close.

Gemini- You may want to put off making important decisions this week and wait until better clarity is established. You may be overwhelmed with needs and desires, but this not the time to act. However, this week is the time to break down barriers and make progress in your personal life.

Cancer- Perhaps you are questioning trust in your close relationships this week. Don't pay too much attention to these feelings of doubt. It is better for you to retreat into your shell and hold off on making decisions regarding close relationships. However, you are in need of change in other areas of your life. Perhaps now is the time to form better habits in your daily routine.

Leo- This week is filled with surprises for you, Leo! You may find that much of what you have been holding inside will finally be set free, which will make you feel lighter and more positive. Now is the time for you to show your appreciation for someone and to embark on creative endeavors.

Virgo- Remember that no setback is permanent. This week you may find yourself falling into old patterns and old habits. Initially, this may be discouraging initially, but don't let it bring you down. Remember that help is always available around and that the sun will rise again tomorrow; however, there is no need to wait for tomorrow to change these habits.

Libra- Be cautious with your words this week. Now is the time to be tactful and gentle when engaging in social interactions. Make sure to stay flexible to change that may arise. This is a good week for trading and negotiating since smooth communication is on your side.

Scorpio- Be careful not to get too lost in thought this week. This is a good time to be productive and progressive. But if you get too caught up in your own head, you may miss out on the opportunity. It is time to seek truth and to pursue your goals.

Sagittarius- Your charm and charismatic nature help you get along with everyone this week including your enemies. This is a good time to focus on diplomacy and friendship. Avoid gossip and stay positive this week.

Capricorn- This will be a dynamic and challenging week for you, Capricorn. Make sure to remain focused and to concentrate. Don't give into self-doubt. This a good time for you to further dive into the subjects that interest you and focus on your future career.

Aquarius- This is a thought-provoking week for you. Something you hoped for may fall through, but you will find that it was not in your best interest anyway. You may be called to sort out issues in your personal life, and now is the time to do so since communication is on your side.

Pisces- You may find yourself revisiting the past and questioning decisions that you've made or wrestling with feelings of failure. Remember that you cannot change the past but you are much wiser because of it; so, forgive yourself! Your mysterious attractiveness makes romance favorable this week.

Across

- 1 Dash
- 5 Summer cooler
- 8 Ann here
- 12 Fashion magazine
- 13 Bread maker
- 15 Dock
- 16 Radio tuner
- 17 About to explode
- 18 Abound
- 19 ___-Wan Kenobi
- 20 Monty Python broadcaster
- 21 "I'm ___ of you!"
- 23 Pierces with a spear
- 25 Gear shift position
- 27 "It's no ___!"
- 28 Retrage
- 33 Mountain lakes
- 36 Curved molding
- 37 Atlantic catch
- 38 Celestial altar
- 39 "How ___ Has the Banisher Cried?" (Thomas Moore poem)
- 41 Fruity drink
- 43 Beldan
- 44 Mouth piece
- 45 Mayberry eat
- 47 Glove material
- 49 Cooking pot metal
- 52 "___ show time!"
- 53 ___ de Triomphe
- 54 Expire
- 58 Simlar
- 60 Go public with
- 61 Colo. neighbor
- 63 Hoops call
- 64 Oyster's prize
- 67 Oscar winner Survivor
- 68 Division word
- 69 Pigment
- 70 Respeak an article

Copyright © 2007 FunTrivia.com

- 71 Lager or pilsner, e.g.
- 72 "Well done!"
- 73 Golfer's bagful

Down

- 1 Decorate snow
- 2 Cover story?
- 3 Allegation
- 4 Pickled delicacy
- 5 Madcap comedy
- 6 Wanted-preter letters
- 7 After expenses
- 8 Billy Joel song ___ girl
- 9 In ___ of
- 10 Call for
- 11 Brunch
- 13 Holy book
- 14 Answered
- 20 Boon's Mefistofele, e.g.
- 22 Beluga yield
- 24 Wordplay
- 25 Give in to gravity
- 29 Grasshark
- 30 Flu symptom
- 31 Contemptible one
- 32 Halftime lead, e.g.
- 33 Toiletry item
- 34 Operatic solo
- 35 Criticizes
- 36 Director Preminger
- 40 Delivery aid

- 42 Barren oil, e.g.
- 46 Neither Rep. nor Dem.
- 48 It's a free country
- 50 Make fit
- 51 Frowler
- 52 In a cold manner
- 55 Tuna fuma
- 56 Sarcastic
- 57 Chilling
- 58 First-class
- 59 It has strings attached
- 62 Upside-down sleepers
- 63 Little lie
- 65 Can serving
- 66 ___ made
- 67 Bumped into

Sudoku

Each Sudoku puzzle consists of a 9X9 grid that has been subdivided into nine smaller grids of 3X3 squares. To solve the puzzle each row, column, and box must contain each of the numbers 1 to 9. Puzzles come in three grades: easy, medium, and difficult.

			8	5				7
3	8	2
9		7		3		1	8	4
	2	8			6		3
4		9				8		1
	3		9			4	7
7	1	3		6		2		8
						5	1	6
2				9	8

	9		2		5	4
	6	7
	8			9
2	4	3	9		1
			4		8
			6		3	2	4	1
				1			3
						1	5
		6	5		7		9

HAVE A STORY TO TELL?

SHARE YOUR SHORT STORIES AND POEMS WITH US!

PICKS WILL BE SHOWCASED IN THE INKWELL!

SEND SUBMISSIONS TO
WEB.INKWELL@GMAIL.COM